STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1892.

NO. 13

DANVILLE.

—Isaac Hulet and Luella Lamb obtained marriage-license on the 5th inst.

—A fine boy is a new arrival at the home of T. M. Morrow, of the Democrat.

—A bastardy case, in which a German girl, Mollie Fischer, is complainant and Sam Moore, Jr. defendant, will probably be tried the 18th inst., county court day.

—The Danville friends of Miss E. May Turner, of Richmond, have signed a petition that she be appointed one of the lady commissioners of the World's Fair.

—Mr. Boyle Read has rented the farm of the Misses McLane, on the Harrodsburg pike and will take possession this week. Mr. Sallee, heretofore occupying this farm, will move to the farm of his father, the late M. P. Sallee, on the Lancaster pike.

—Robert Harding has bought the lot on Main street west of and adjoining the old Dr. Wagner residence, from C. H. Talbot, of Versailles, for $1,000. It is 97 feet front and 200 feet deep. Mr. Harding will at once erect a handsome residence on this lot.

—The marriage of Mr. W. W. Wiseman, of this place, and Miss Davis, of Louisville, will take place on the 21st inst. A main street merchant, whose name shall be nameless for the present, it is said, will bring home a bride from Woodford county in the early days of June.

—Mrs. I. S. McElroy and children are visiting the family of her father, Judge G. F. Lee, Mr. John Owsley, of Chicago, is here this week on his way home from California, on a brief visit to the family of his cousin, Col. J. W. Guest. Mrs. John S. Van Meter, of Hot Springs, Ark., is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. J. W. Yerkes.

—Considerable of a "ruction" is being raised by citizens living on 3d street opposite the western boundary of the D. & D. Institute, because the institute authorities are about to put up a building on said western boundary for the accommodation of such of the inmates as may take sick and who may be better off by being separated from those occupying the main buildings.

—Mr. John Robinson has returned from Florida and Cuba, where he had been a greater part of the past winter and is now at the Gilcher House. The report that an affair of the heart, beginning in Kentucky, had culminated in the land of sun and flowers, by Mr. Robinson becoming a Benedict, is pronounced to be absolutely and unequivocally false. He is still foot loose and fancy free.

—The newly elected councilmen organized Saturday and elected the following officers to serve the ensuing two years: Mayor, Rev. James R. Allen; clerk, Chas. H. Roden; treasurer, B. J. Durham; recorder, Alex Anderson; city attorney, W. O. Goodloe; chief of police, Wm. Siliman; assessor, W. S. Dowton. The board is composed of eight democrats and four republicans, two of the latter being negroes.

—Rev. Strother Cook, Jr., who was thought to have been shipwrecked while on his way home from Africa to Kentucky, has been heard from at Liverpool, England, where he had been taken from ship board in an unconscious condition, while ill with black fever. He is now convalescent. Mr. Cook is a native of Mercer county and has a number of relatives in Boyle. He was first in Africa as a Baptist missionary, but returned to Kentucky several years ago and connecting himself with the Christian church went back to the Dark Continent as a representative of that denomination.

—Post-Master Van Pelt furnishes the following facts concerning the Danville office: The gross postal receipts for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1890, amounted to $6,767.06. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1891, $7,273.20, showing an increase for one year of $506.14. For the year ended March 31, 1892, $7,702.92, an increase over the previous year of $429.72. Total increase of postal receipts for the past two years $935.86. When the gross receipts shall amount to $8,000, the office will be placed in the list of the second class and if the increase during the present year be in proportion to that of the past two years, Danville will be placed in the second class in 1893.

—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Kincaid was appointed administrator with the will annexed of the estate of her late husband's father, Hon. John Kincaid, who died in Sumner County, Tennessee, in 1873. Judge Kincaid, at the time of his death, owned in addition to his valuable estate in Tennessee, some $6,000 or $7,000 acres of land in Knox county, this State, which has been somewhat neglected by the heirs and which for many years has been largely occupied by squatters. Now, that a railroad has made the land accessible, and investigation has proved that it contains exhaustless quantities of coal and valuable minerals, the heirs will proceed to secure full possession as soon as possible. Judge Kincaid began his professional life as a lawyer at Stanford, where he lived and practiced successfully for many years. During his residence there he represented his district in Congress. Later on he moved to Boyle county, buying the valuable farm now owned by M. P. Sallee's heirs. Here he lived until about 1870, gradually abandoning the practice of law until he sold his farm to Col. Thos. McRoberts and removed to Tennessee.

LANCASER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mrs. J. C. Robinson entertained the "Four O'clock Club," Friday afternoon.

—A large number of ladies braved the cold wind Saturday to see the displays of spring millinery.

—The dower bed around the park is rapidly nearing completion. Marshal Hamilton is seeing that the work is well done.

—Mr. S. T. Leavell, who owns a large peach orchard near town, tells us that his entire crop was killed by the late cold spell.

—A very enjoyable impromptu hop was given at the Mason House, Friday night. Signor Black's band furnished first-class music for the occasion.

—The editors of Puck and Judge ought, by all means to send reporters to Lancaster to take down the funny things gotten off on the brass band. Some of them are "great" in the estimation of the authors.

—The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are making a decided success of the "exchange." Every Saturday afternoon they sell a large quantity of good things to eat. As all they sell is contributed by members it is clear profit.

—Sheriff Menefee, of Stanford, came over Friday and summoned about 60 of our citizens to appear in the Lincoln Circuit Court to be examined for jurors in the Saunders case. The wives of some of the married men are not pleased at the enforced absence of their husbands.

—The five commissioners to represent Kentucky at the Exposition will have a gay old time in the selection of the three lady commissioners for the State. The applicants will doubtless be as numerous as black birds in the spring of the year, and if the commissioners can succeed in giving satisfaction and escaping a scouring, they will be exceedingly lucky.

—Miss Alma Hagan, of Richmond, who has been visiting the Misses Currey, returned home to-day. Miss Bessie Bush is visiting Miss Fannie Collier, in Louisville. J. Y. Currey was here Sunday. H. A. B. Marksbury was in Danville Sunday. Mrs. W. O. Sweeney, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is much better. Miss Sutton, of Marksbury, has been visiting Mrs. J. L. Hamilton. Mr. John M. Logan has returned from a business trip to Cincinnati.

—The Kentucky World's Fair bill provides that the members of the board of managers shall, as nearly as may be, represent the different geographical sections and the most important interests of the State. Neither the "geographical sections" nor the most important interests of the State are defined, and it becomes a matter of interest to know just what they are. These are questions to be solved by the governor. Possibly the appointment of a commission from Northern, Eastern, Southern, Western and Central Kentucky would meet the requirements of the law; and the most important interests of the State might be said to consist of the agricultural, mechanical, mineral, educational and professional. The commissioner to represent the agricultural interests might be taken from Southern Kentucky, where most of our tobacco is raised; the one to represent the mechanical interests, from Louisville; the one to represent the mineral interest, from Eastern Kentucky; the educational, from Northern Kentucky and the professional from Central Kentucky.

—It is much to the credit of the House of Representatives that the bill appropriating $100,000 for Kentucky's display at the Columbian Exposition was passed.

—Fifty-six members voted for it and 35 against it. It would have been a great mistake to have defeated the bill and it would have placed the State in a very awkward position and subjected us to deserved ridicule. Every Kentuckian ought to be proud of his State; of its history, products, soldiers, jurists, statesmen, editors, poets, artists, mechanics, divines, orators, handsome women and fast horses. The probabilities are a thousand to one that the exposition would go on all the same if Kentucky, or any other State, should, through contrariness or bare-footed economy, refuse to take part in the project, but it is nevertheless a certainty that every citizen of the State who would visit the Fair, would be ashamed to let any one know whence he came, or from what Commonwealth he hailed. Kentuckians have always maintained their self-respect at home and abroad, and it is to be hoped that the time will never come when the proud old Commonwealth shall be too niggardly and too parsimonious to raise enough money to enable it to take the position in any commanding public enterprise it so justly deserves.

—Dr. W. S. Drye, who has never been well since he broke his leg, which had to be amputated, died Sunday night, at 10 o'clock, and was burned in the Hustonville cemetery yesterday afternoon. The immediate cause of his death was Bright's disease, though he suffered from several other complications. He was a clever, popular man and was at one time the best doctor in his section. He professed religion before he died and joined the Christian church. His wife, who was a daughter of the late Carroll Bailey, and three children—Bailey, Will and Lizzie Drye—survive him. Dr. Drye was in his 50th year and had always lived in the section he died in.

—The president sent in the appointment of James L. Weaver to be confirmed as post master at London.

—The Press, the leading republican journal of New York, is exceedingly belligerent and anxious to get the country into a war. It raved and snorted at poor little Chili and was very sorry when the apology came that compelled a cessation of the wrath of Uncle Sam, but it took comfort in the trouble that arose with England over the Behring Sea question, and was exceedingly anxious to go to war over a very small matter of no concern to the masses of the people of either country.

—The House passed a bill to regulate the election of special county judges, providing that their pay shall be deducted from the regular incumbent's salary.

—The bill to prohibit bank discounts at a greater rate than 6 per cent. passed its second reading in the House, but it will not become a law and oughtn't to.

—Representative Hay, of Boyle, voted against the World's Fair appropriation. His constituents ought to call him home and let him go to work on his backwoods farm. He is too much of a moseback for that progressive county.

—The World's Fair directory is coming to its senses, as evidenced by the cut in two of President Baker's salary. It is now fixed at $6,000. The office of solicitor general, held by Mr. Butterworth, was abolished. Logan L. Carlisle, son of Senator Carlisle, was made attorney.

—The World's Fair appropriation bill, calling for $100,000 for Kentucky's exhibit, passed the House by a vote of 56 to 35. Amendments were added closing the exhibit on Sundays and prohibiting the sale of liquors at all times. It is declared, however, that these amendments are of no avail, as the points covered come under the jurisdiction of the board of control only.

—Dr. Woods, with the Polk Budget incident fresh in his memory, has presented a bill to prevent "ringing at fairs and race courses. The penalty is a fine not exceeding $1,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than two years, or in the county jail for not more than one year. The same penalty is assessed against persons knowingly entering a horse in the wrong class as determined by a previous performance of the horse.

—Miss Mamie Henry will have her spring opening on Saturday, April 16, to which all are cordially invited.

—Mr. John Melvin had a very good cow, which he had just bought, killed by the train Saturday. As Mr. Melvin had just moved in our midst, we were sorry to hear of such a loss.

—Col. D. G. Slaughter has invited a select number of friends to a day's outing at Green Briar Springs next Saturday. Dinner will be served at the Springs a good band of music will be in attendance and all will be entertained as best suits their inclination. A jolly good time is expected.

—We learn from reliable persons that Crab Orchard Springs will be opened as a resort in the usual manner, the only difference in the new management will be that it will be used as a private sanitarium the year round, in order to utilize the buildings, which otherwise stand idle two thirds of the year.

—Mr. Vic Owens is visiting his mother, Mrs. Ike Herrin. Mrs. J. E. Carson and daughter, Miss Bessie, are visiting in Danville. Mr. John Brooks spent Sunday with his mother. Mr. M. Livingston stopped over a few days with his father-in-law, Dr. W. M. Doores. Mr. Jack Melvin and friend, of Brodhead, spent Sunday in Crab Orchard with Mr. Melvin's parents.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. J. W. Lynch and Rev. A. V. Sizemore will exchange pulpits next Sunday.

—Quarterly meeting will be held at McKendree next Sunday by Rev. J. Land, in consequence of which there will be no meeting at the Methodist church here.

—Rev. R. H. Caldwell will preach at Walnut Flat Saturday, 16th, at 3 p.m. Communion services at 11 a.m. Sunday.

—A full attendance of the members is requested on Saturday evening to attend to some business.

—The Harrodsburg Democrat says: "Revs. Milton Elliott, of Kirksville, and G. L. Surber, of Lexington, are trying to purchase the Daughters College property. If the deal is completed a number of improvements will be made on the college and grounds." It would be a big thing for the college for these gentlemen to get hold of it. Mr. Elliott is an experienced educator, who has built up a splendid school at Kirksville, while Mr. Surber is both capable and well fitted for the business.

—Dr. W. S. Drye, who has never been well since he broke his leg, which had to be amputated, died Sunday night, at 10 o'clock, and was burned in the Hustonville cemetery yesterday afternoon.

—The immediate cause of his death was Bright's disease, though he suffered from several other complications. He was a clever, popular man and was at one time the best doctor in his section. He professed religion before he died and joined the Christian church. His wife, who was a daughter of the late Carroll Bailey, and three children—Bailey, Will and Lizzie Drye—survive him. Dr. Drye was in his 50th year and had always lived in the section he died in.

—The president sent in the appointment of James L. Weaver to be confirmed as post master at London.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—The Senate concurred in the House amendments to the World's Fair appropriation bill and it is now ready for the governor's signature.

—The House passed a bill to regulate the election of special county judges, providing that their pay shall be deducted from the regular incumbent's salary.

—The bill to prohibit bank discounts at a greater rate than 6 per cent. passed its second reading in the House, but it will not become a law and oughtn't to.

—Representative Hay, of Boyle, voted against the World's Fair appropriation.

—His constituents ought to call him home and let him go to work on his backwoods farm. He is too much of a moseback for that progressive county.

—The World's Fair directory is coming to its senses, as evidenced by the cut in two of President Baker's salary. It is now fixed at $6,000. The office of solicitor general, held by Mr. Butterworth, was abolished. Logan L. Carlisle, son of Senator Carlisle, was made attorney.

STANFORD, KY., APRIL 12, 1892

W. P. WALTON.

The Fourth Congress of the Scotch Irish Society of America will be held in Atlanta, April 28-May 1, and this office is in receipt of a finely engraved invitation, with the beautiful seal in green. Col. A. K. McClure, the noted Philadelphian, our own beloved and eloquent Jim McKenzie and other distinguished speakers are on the programme. Bill Arp, the noted wit, will discourse on the "Georgia Cracker," and Col. J. W. Adair, another humorous character, will also address the meeting. On Sunday evening following the session of the congress there will be a Scotch-Irish memorial service, conducted by Dr. John Hall, of New York, a native of Ulster, and one of the most distinguished divines of the Presbyterian church in America. It will be the old service with the singing of Psalms and other forms of worship suggestive of the auld lang syne. Reduced railroad rates have been secured and from all points south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi 1½ fare return tickets will be on sale. President Harrison, Ex-President Cleveland, Secretary Blaine, Gov. McKinley, Ex-Gov. Campbell, Gov. Buchanan and many other distinguished Scotch-Irishmen will be invited.

THE Rhode Island election was not so much of a dog-tail as the first dispatches made it appear. Brown, the republican candidate for governor, has a clear majority of 196 in a total vote of 54,736 and that party secures all the other State offices except two, besides a majority of the Legislature, which will re-elect U.S. Senator Aldrich. This is the first time in several years that the people have elected a governor, the choice having fallen to the Legislature. The democratic vote this year was 25,429 against 22,249 in 1890 and 17,530 in 1888, so it will be seen that the democrats are much more than holding their own. The election has no special significance, but the result has given occasion to those who oppose Cleveland to say that nothing can be expected by the democracy from the Eastern States and that to win it must nominate a Western man. This same set would have found some reason to urge against the nomination of the ex-president if the democrats had swept the State. They hate Cleveland and would rather see Harrison re-elected than for him to again occupy the presidential chair.

In a letter to the Central Record, Mr. J. R. Marr makes a suggestion that will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of the judge's many friends in this section: We find in Lexington a gentleman in whom the people of our section of the State have a good deal of confidence and who has been honored with important positions in State and National affairs. We allude to Hon. M. J. Durham, now a resident of Lexington and cashier of the Central Bank. We do not know that he has the least inclination to leave his desk for any position, but his devotion to Mr. Cleveland and his unswerving democracy point to him as an admirable selection for delegate from the State-at-large to the approaching National democratic convention.

MAPS of the gerrymander Ohio districts show that the republicans have outdone anything in that line ever attempted. The famous shoe string district in Mississippi is a model of compactness and beauty compared to the Ohio effort. One of the new districts is known as the "sausage skin" and is even more fearfully and wonderfully made than the others. Let President Harrison issue another message on the meanness and unfairness of the gerrymander.

SAYS the Frankfort Capital: "Brer Walton, of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, remarks that the people have declared that Grover Cleveland must head the ticket in this good year of our Lord 1892, and Brer Walton is always right—except when he is scolding the Capital." He was never guilty of that indiscretion but once and will not try it on again. A man does not put his hand a second time into a lion's mouth, if he has any sense in his head.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian gives currency to a report that Walter P. Emerson, a splendid writer and the best headliner in Kentucky, is about to sever his connection with the Louisville Times to take charge of the Russellville Ledger. It is to be hoped that the report is fiction. Mr. Emerson's light is too bright to be hid under the bushel of a country weekly.

THE passage by the House of the Springer Free Wool bill by a vote of 194 to 60 shows how thoroughly the democrats are united on the question of tariff reform. Only one democrat, Babbitt, of Wisconsin, who is apparently not much of an one, voted against the bill, and only one alliance man.

The Owensboro Inquirer calls on its representative, Little Tontit Petit, to stop making a donkey of himself. Bro. Casey should not expect or demand the impossible. The Ethiopian cannot change his skin, nor the leopard his spots.

The bill to appropriate $100,000 to defray the expenses of the meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington passed the Senate 41 to 10, Blackburn, Mills and Vest being among the honored minority. In the history of demagogic legislation to catch the soldier vote, there has never been any so flagrantly demagogic as this impudent proposition, which we are glad to hear will be opposed to the bitter end by the democratic majority in the House. Representative Dickerson is outspoken in denouncing the outrageous violation of the constitution and says that if necessary to prevent its becoming a law, he will filibuster to the end of the session. Senator Palmer, of Illinois, was one of the champions of the proposed steal, which of itself is enough to knock out his pretensions to the presidency. If the bill should become a law, the next move will be to pass an appropriation to defray the expenses of the National republican convention at Minneapolis, and it would be equally as proper.

SPEAKING of J. B. Thompson's candidacy for district delegate, the Harrodsburg Sayings talks out in meeting as follows: "We believe that Mr. Thompson is unalterably opposed to Mr. Cleveland and that he would not vote for him under any circumstances. Herein lies the futility of his canvas for delegate and we are satisfied that he can not get the endorsement of his own county, much less that of the others in this district. The people of this grand old Commonwealth are overwhelmingly for Cleveland and their voice being the voice of God, we must send a solid delegation to Chicago for him first and him alone, as long as there is any probability of his nomination." The Democrat is also outspoken against any delegate opposed to the ex-president, who, it thinks, will be elected in spite of New York if he is given the nomination. Mr. Thompson will have to revise his opinions if he goes to Chicago officially. This is neither a Hill nor a Carlisle year, as he will find by taking a few days off and investigating.

THE Massachusetts democratic convention heartily endorsed the administration of Grover Cleveland and while not specifically pledging its delegation, yet declared its conviction that the interest of the party and of the country demand the nomination and election of Grover Cleveland as president, being confident that under his leadership the principles of democracy will again win a glorious victory. The platform advocates tariff reform and economic government, and opposes the free coinage of silver without international agreement. All the delegates are Cleveland men. Rhode Island, Minnesota and Massachusetts, the only three States that have held conventions, save New York, have each declared for Cleveland and sent delegations with not a single Hill advocate. Kentucky is going to follow suit and the Hill men who are masquerading as Carlisle supporters had as well stand from under.

THE Newport Journal, whose support of Carlisle never wavers, continues to urge his nomination for the presidency and seems satisfied that he is the only Moses that can lead the democracy out of the wilderness, but it wants no Hill man disguised as a Carlisle supporter elected as delegate to Chicago. "Euphemistically," it exclaims, "and forever, Kentucky, no matter for whom she may be, is not for Hill," and all the people say "amen." They also say, too, if we can read the handwriting on the wall, that as much as she loves Carlisle, she is not for his nomination this time. She is for Grover Cleveland, with no second choice. Can't you tumble, Brer Blakey?

R. E. HUGHES, of the Lancaster Record, is trying to work up a legal advertising bill and is sending out petitions for newspaper men to obtain signatures to, asking the Legislature to pass a bill requiring all sales of realty made by sheriffs, commissioners and other officers of the courts to be published in newspapers. That such a law is needed for the protection of defendants is apparent, but so many futile efforts have been made to secure its passage, that none but a young and stout-hearted man like Mr. Hughes would have the courage to attempt it again.

SOME of the newspapers are claiming that the liquor cure kills as many drunks as it cures. That seems to be all right. If a drunkard can't be cured he ought to be killed. He is no account to himself or anybody else and is a mere number of the ground.

JUDGE G. W. McCCLURE, of Rockcastle, a slyon pure democrat and a Cleveland man, is a candidate for delegate to the National Convention from this district. He is the kind of man to send. Let his ambition be gratified.

ANOTHER STORE.—Mr. C. D. Powell, whose removal to this place we noted in our last issue, has begun the erection of a store-room in the Miller extension, near John Mershon's blacksmith shop and will open out a stock of general merchandise as soon as it is completed.

A DELEGATION from the grand jury—Messrs. P. W. Carter, L. M. Lasley and J. T. Bingaman, called at this office to ask that the thanks of all the members of the jury be tendered Deputy Sheriff Sam W. Menefee for the faithful and prompt manner in which he waited on the body, by executing its subpoenas and attending to its other orders. We can say this for the jury: It did its duty well and thoroughly and found no indictments save those it was satisfied could be sustained in court.

THE boys who want to play silly pranks ought to try to get onto something fresh. The old idioey, inaugurated by Adam's boys, of throwing goods boxes out in the street, changing signs, turning buggies over and other as stupid efforts, which was done under cover of Sunday night's darkness, is unworthy of the youth of this day and generation. It might have been funny in centuries before Christ, but it is too chestnutty now to provoke even a sickly smile.

THE city council succeeded in straightening out Friday night, after failing to do so the night before. Col. W. G. Welch and A. A. McKinney refused, on account of too much other business, to qualify and the rest of the members began to try to fill the vacancies. Several persons were chosen, who declined to serve, but at the earnest solicitation of the citizens, Dr. J. K. VanArsdale and Mr. John S. Hughes accepted the trust and were sworn in, the board being now completed, with them and Messrs. D. W. Vandever, Dr. J. F. Peyton, I. M. Bruce, Dr. S. G. Hocker and J. W. Hayden, making, we take it, a capital board, and one which will try to do its duty to all parts of town alike. The first in order was the selection of a mayor and that honor was again conferred on Mr. Vandever, who fills the position most acceptably. George L. Penny was elected clerk, P. M. McRoberts, Esq., attorney and A. A. McKinney treasurer. The meeting then adjourned to the night of the 16th.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS are now the subject of a good deal of newspaper notice. The New York Herald says: Alas for the iconoclastic touch of time! Crab Orchard Springs, in Kentucky, for 60 years the most famous of Southern watering places, the favorite resort not only of Blue-grass beauty and chivalry, but of the wealth and fashion of the South, has been sold to a syndicate to be converted into a bi-chloride of gold sanitarium. In the halcyon days before the war Crab Orchard rivaled Saratoga as it surpassed White Sulphur in the throng of fashionables that gathered there every season. Year after year, before the calamity of war had turned opulence into penury, the rich planter of the fair South came with their retinues of slaves, and girls who went there as children returned as belles and later as matrons, so that there arose a recognized aristocracy among the guests. The rebellion changed all that, but of late years the springs have had a renaissance, as it were, and now, at last, they have come to the base uses of curing drunkards.

The Board of Equalization reduced Garrard county's assessment from an increase of 4 on land to 2 per cent, and lots remain as before, fixed at a reduction of 4 per cent.

THE pond keeper in the East End of Louisville has killed 1,235 dogs in five months. A pond keeper here could get away with that many in a month and they would never be missed.

In response to the inquiry of the auditor, who was called on by the Legislature to state the number of criminal prosecutions filed in Kentucky in 1891, Mr. J. P. Bailey, clerk, reports 15 felonies and 34 misdemeanors for Lincoln county, a much less number than any one would think.

THE 18th anniversary of Hope Lodge, No. 19, K. of H., will occur Friday, April 15th, 1892. There will be two initiations, addresses, &c. The presence of every member is earnestly desired. By order of the Lodge. A. A. Warren, Reporter.

H. T. NOEL, Esq., a member of the Lancaster bar, a good lawyer and a fine gentleman, is announced in this issue for circuit judge. He was here yesterday shaking hands with our people, upon whom he created a most favorable impression.

THE candidacy of Judge J. W. Hughes, of Mercer, for Commonwealth's attorney, is announced in this issue. He is a fine advocate and a whole-souled, popular gentleman, calculated to make friends wherever he goes. He was shaking hands with our people yesterday and went away pretty well satisfied with his day's work.

DR. CARPENTER says that as a member of the board of health it is made his duty to present all cases of illegal practice of medicine or optics to the grand-jury and that the other doctors were fully in accord with and ready to back him in all the charges. He says he was actuated solely for the public good and not through envy or jealousy as he gets all the practice he can do.

KUKLUXING.—J. K. Passmore of Casey, has sworn out warrants in the U. S. Court, under the klux law, for the arrest of Rev. J. N. Bolling, Albert Wells, Jeff Short, James Fogle, Quince Jones, Bill Hatter, John Vest, Henry Taylor, John Tilford, Clem Wheat and Eli Godby. Passmore alleges that they went to his house, near Liberty and took a keg of whisky from him and threatened to hang him. The gentlemen had reason to believe that Passmore was violating the prohibition law and wanted to teach him a lesson.

WHERE TO GO THIS SUMMER.—If you contemplate taking a trip this summer remember that the most delightful place in America is Old Point Comfort, Va. On Tuesday, July 26th, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway will run its annual excursion from Lexington and the Blue-Grass Region. A trip to Old Point will cost you less than to any other place on account of the extremely low rates made by the Hygeia Hotel and the railway company to parties taking advantage of this excursion. Full particulars will be advertised shortly. Chas. L. Brown, G. P. A.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Not being able to secure a jury in the Saunders case Friday, from the men summoned in this county, Judge Morrow ordered the sheriff to have 60 from Garrard here by 9 A. M. Saturday. The case of Cicero Singleton was next called and it was tried, resulting in a verdict of $250 against him for shooting F. S. Gooch. As he did not have the money to liquidate and could get his board and $2 a day by serving it out in jail, he decided to do 125 days with Mr. Owens. For carrying concealed weapons F. S. Gooch, the man shot, was acquitted.

The grand jury adjourned Friday without finding more indictments than those already noted, 26 in number. The effort to indict Dr. J. S. Appleman, Dr. M. L. Bourne and Dr. R. Goldstein for unlawful practice of medicine and optics proved abortive and those gentlemen get a good advertisement without paying for it. We learn that witnesses testified before the jury that Appleman and others had given them great relief after other doctors had failed, and the jury was not inclined to be a party to keeping them away.

Out of the 60 men summoned from Garrard, the rest of the jury to try W. T. Saunders, for the murder of Judge Egbert, was secured by 11 A. M., Saturday, and the trial began after noon. The jurors are as follows: J. J. McKinney, Milford Hall, J. H. Wheeler, J. C. Peoples, Reuben Naylor, James Underwood, M. E. Eason, G. W. Myers, Nick Perkins, J. C. Bryant, George Lawson and B. F. Jennings. The first four are from this county and the others from Garrard. The prosecution is assisted by R. C. Warren, W. B. Hansford, while Messrs. W. O. Bradley, Miller and Owlesley, J. Mori, Rothwell and F. F. Bobbitt represent the accused.

Mrs. A. M. Egbert, Mrs. W. M. Higgins and Mrs. W. T. Stephenson sit with the prosecution all the time. Mr. W. C. Egbert, son of the murdered man, is also present. Mrs. Saunders is not here but a number of other ladies sit on that side. Mr. Saunders is in a much better physical condition than before and his appearance does not create the sympathy that it did when he last stood trial for his life.

It took until 10:30 yesterday for the prosecution to finish in chief, when Mr. Saunders was put upon the stand and detailed the occurrence about as he did before and with the other testimony we published at the time.

The testimony was all in by 4:30 yesterday evening and the instructions given to the jury. Court was to hold at night and listen to the arguments. Eight speeches will be made and the case will not get to the jury before noon to day.

Prosecuting Attorneys Wm. Herndon and J. B. Paxton say the case for the Commonwealth has been considerably strengthened this time, but the consensus of opinion expressed by the attorneys for the defense is that it is about the same case as made out before, possibly better for their client.

VERY little was done in the county court yesterday. The resignation of J. G. Jenkins as constable was received. He has moved from the Highland district, in which he was elected, and that is the reason he resigned. Liquor licenses were granted D. A. Twaddie and J. W. Carrier each at Rowland and J. Russell & Co., at Hustonville.

Ox warrants sworn out by Baylor Holtzclaw, George and Cal. Welch and Tandy Higgins are in jail to answer for robbing his store at Walnut Flat, the night of the big snow storm in March, report of which we gave at the time. He tracked the horse to their house next day and since then has caught them selling articles that they stole. Their examining trial will occur to-day before Judge Carson.

Two heavy frosts and freezes have played havoc with the small fruit buds and they are killed, according to reports, from 60 per cent. to all. Peaches fared fully as badly and the prospect is very gloomy for any kinds of fruit. All forward vegetation has been nipped and the young leaves and plants look as if they had had hot water poured on them. The wheat is not injured much however, and we may have a full supply of the substantial if we are denied the luxuries.

THE Central Kentucky Medical Association will meet in Stanford on Wednesday the 21st inst., at 10:30 o'clock A. M. Discussion—Treatment of Typhoid Fever, by Dr. H. C. Cartwright, Junction City. Report of Section on Obstetrics and Gynecology—Dr. Fayette Dunlap, Danville. Address by the president-elect, Dr. Carpenter, of Stanford. If you have a "voluntary" send its title at once to the secretary, Dr. Steele Bailey. Entertainment at Green's Tavern by the profession of Lincoln.

THE leaves and blossoms of the plants are beginning to swell and open and the bees are starting forth on their summer labors. Work in the apiary will begin in earnest. Old beekeepers well know the importance of cleaning the house the very first thing, and they will be about their work in good season. Ten or fifteen minutes' work will suffice for this, and the dead bees, wax litter and other accumulations should be swept out and carried away. The movable bottoms will show their convenience now, for this will lessen the work considerably. The spring of the year is the time for those who wish to begin beekeeping to enter into the ranks.

Aside from the cost of bees there is little expense in starting an apiary in a small way. Good colonies can be secured for about $6. The cost of the other things needed will be a smoker, $2; bee veil, 75 cents; honey extractor, $10; uncapping knife, $1.25; new hives for swarms, $1 each. All that is needed then is pluck and energy. Every farmer should remember that the more bees we have the greater will be the distribution of the fructifying pollen, and the greater will be the yield of all plants. It is an important question, then, to consider, Will it not pay to keep bees, and start a small apiary this spring?—James Strahan in American Cultivator.

HORSE SHOW.

preparing him for the show and had him in fine trim.

J. S. Baughman, of Boyle, showed Red Fox, a fine son of Young Jackson, by Stonewall Jackson. He moves well for a young horse and Mr. Baughman will do some business in this county with him.

E. B. Kennedy's Red Eagle, by Red Squirrel, is a horse of splendid build and handles himself perfectly.

Lord Clifton, the blue tie saddler of G. A. Lackey, is in fine trim and showed off in fine shape.

The young stallion Jesse Wilkes, belonging to A. T. Taylor, was not in very good shape, but showed himself to be a very good mover.

English Hunter, the fine Abdallah Messenger stud of B. F. Powell, had a full share of admirers.

The other horses shown were Messenger, owned by Eubanks Bros. & Hubbell; Brilliant, by W. T. Currey; J. H. Huey by Tom Yeager; Chancey Denmark, by Luther Underwood; Perchin, by Rice Benge, and Adot, by Harry DePanw.

The splendidly bred Dorsey Goldust, 15,052 attracted much attention and if his owner, Mr. F. Reid, was ever proud of him he certainly was yesterday.

A beautiful pair indeed are J. Steele Carpenter's Wallace Denmark and son, Lexel. No finer saddle horses can be found and Mr. Carpenter is doing a big business with them.

Capt. T. A. Elkin's two horses, Arthur Sims and Wyandotte, were exhibited and were very favorably spoken of. See their pedigrees in Friday's issue.

S. T. Harris did not show his Onward Messenger and for some reason J. M. Carter, Jr., failed to be here with his fine Wedgewood 436.

—Chris Roth, the man who hanged Mrs. Surratt for alleged conspiracy in the murder of Lincoln, has gone suddenly crazy. He has been for 20 years been mail agent between Grand Rapids, Mich., and Jackson and made the latter place his headquarters. The other night he failed to throw off the mail and an investigation found him in the car surrounded by the bags, staring wildly at vacancy.

—As telegraph service is restored in the flooded districts of the South, it is learned that greater loss has been suffered than at first thought. Twenty persons are now known to have been drowned at Columbus, Miss., and 600 refugees are in that town homeless and penniless. Twenty-five families of negroes are among the missing and it is believed that all have perished. The property loss in bridges, &c., is enormous.

—McCreary, T. B. Walker owner, as a saddler was much complimented.
